Alice can be considered a foil to Gene's character. In what ways could this be considered true?

Toward the end of the play, Tom says to Gene, "It was not my fault if you never came in." Is Tom right? Do you agree or disagree with him? Explain why.

What is the significance of the play's title? Explain.

“Mothers are soft and yielding,” Alice tells Gene. “Fathers are hard and rough, to teach us the way of the world, which is rough” If you could talk with Alice, how would you respond to her opinion?
